

Self Defense

You know the feeling

It's the one you get deep down inside when...

- You wonder what you would do if you were ever attacked
- You think about how much you want to lose weight and get in shape
- You wish you had something in your life that you did "just for you"

You should know that a properly instructed martial arts program will help you get in shape, lose weight and relieve stress, all while learning valuable self-defense skills so you can be secure in your ability to protect yourself and your loved ones.

TMA CLEVELAND KALI

Why should I learn Kali?

- You learn practical self-defense.
- Your upper body, arms and legs will become toned
- You will increase your fitness and aerobic capacity
- Parts of your body, such as your forearms, elbows and hands will benefit from conditioning, making them more resistant to pain and injury.
- You will become more flexible.
- You will benefit from increased manual dexterity and
- co-ordination. This is derived from performing exercises with two weapons and weapons of different sizes. .
- You will be able use any weapon , even one you have not used before.
- It complements and enhances any martial art. It can be learned independently from other martial arts or grafted seamlessly into any form of exercise you do already.
- Many of the techniques do not require strength or power, since most of the power is derived from body movement and economy of motion.
- Because there is no need for strength, anyone can learn . 12 year old children can learn Kali as well as retired women.

Exercise while gaining peace of mind.
